

New Afton Capital

New Gold's New Afton mine site is an underground gold and copper producing mine and milling facility located 10 kilometres outside Kamloops, British Columbia. The site's capital team is primarily focused on the execution of a new underground development to extend the life of mine.<sup>1</sup>

This involves extensive underground and surface infrastructure projects to ensure the sustainability of these initiatives.

Peter Lucas has been continuously supporting the site's capital team since June 2022 in the capacity of:

- contract management,
- project controls,
- document management; and
- procurement services.

These services have facilitated the procurement of goods and services, the management and negotiation of contracts, cost forecasting and reporting, scheduling, and the development of a project document management system to support the planning and execution of critical surface infrastructure projects.

These projects include:

- surface warehouse,
- compressor buildings,
- fuel storage facility,
- concrete batch plant and shotcrete batch plant; and
- surface maintenance shop.
